For months, it was a myth that there is a war going on between the world of humans and the alien races that appear to live in the stars — one that could destroy Earth. But new evidence shows that's not the case, reports Space.com.. Since the time of Einstein, scientists have known "every single civilization on earth" — even today, when the number of human beings on earth has declined to fewer than 500 or so — is an illusion created by the black hole at the center of our universe. Black holes create vast vacuum regions in the very fabric of space-time known as singularities, which, in turn, produce all manner of bizarre, dangerous phenomena..
